1. INTRODUCTION

Education is the single most important instrument for social and economic transformation. As of now, we have more than 950 universities and 42,000 colleges, with total student enrolment of nearly 31 million. The Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) has doubled during the last 10 years to reach the level of 25.2%, as projected GER of 30% for 2020 by the Govt. of India. However, there is a growing chorus of discontent about ‘what is’ and ‘is not’ happening in the higher education enterprise. Too few people who start college do not graduate. The serious concern about low percentage of employability of our students is also highlighted. Too few graduates are job ready, not having acquired the knowledge, proficiencies and dispositions to compete in the global economy. The traditional learning methodologies have failed to get the most out of what learners could do after undergoing the learning process whereas an Outcome Based Education (OBE) system in higher education is the best way for learner to achieve their goals. The traditional model of higher education is evolving due to some of the factors that threaten the status quo such as increasing international competition, a spurt in private funded institutions, changing demographics, an increasingly mobile population, new-tech savvy students that expect anytime, anywhere customized learning, and the emergence of new commercial providers.

The country is in the process of taking big strides in the field of higher education. It is estimated that India’s higher education will:

- Adopt transformative and innovative approaches in Higher education.
- Have an augmented Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) of 50 per cent
- Reduce state-wise, gender based and social disparity in GER to 5 per cent.
- Emerge as a single largest provider of global talent, with one in four graduates in the world being a product of the Indian higher education system.
- Be among the top five countries in the world in terms of research output.
- Have more than 20 universities among the global top 200.

Various government initiatives are being adopted to boost the growth of education system, besides focusing on new education techniques, such as E-learning and M-learning. In contemporary times our Universities cannot promote an academic life in isolation but are required to champion reason and imagination in engagement with the wider society and its concerns.

While it is universally accepted that the teacher is the pivot of the educational system, our system does not provide adequate opportunities for their professional development. Realizing that teachers have to be in the centre stage of these developments, provisions for their motivational training and consistent exposure to innovative trends and advanced knowledge in various disciplines and across disciplines, need to be revisited and re-engineered in consonance with the contemporary scenario of the country. Not only the faculty but new strategies for governance of educational institutions are also needed to promote innovative, broad and dynamic collaborative models.

2. OBJECTIVES

Keeping the changes that are unfolding in higher education as per above, the Human Resource Development Centers (HRDCs) on war footing shall strive hard:

- a. to increase access to high quality education regardless of budget or location and tailor lesson plans to individual needs by organizing specially designed orientation programmes on pedagogy, based on free massive online open courses (MOOCs) and hybrid classes, adaptive learning software, and the unbundling of traditional degree credits.
- b. to organize blended learning programmes (induction/ orientation/refresher courses) for serving teachers, with a focus on outcomes rather than the output, covering every teacher at least once in three to five years so that they don't see themselves as mere instructors, but as designers, and members of a learning development team with particular goals in mind.
- c. to encourage teachers to develop in-house education-technology incubators that help entrepreneurial start-ups get off the ground by providing them with research, mentorship and connections and linking them to capital and to participate in seminars, symposia, workshops, etc.
- d. to organize one week programme on a theme based topics like Academic leadership, Technology Enhanced Learning, Disaster Management, Gender Sensitization, IPR, Social Connect Programme and Learning Outcome Based Education including evaluation.
- e. to organize specially designed induction/orientation programmes/refresher courses in

IT for new entrants as well as for in-service teachers; and value-based interactive multimedia through integrated practice in instructional media and ICT can nurture the character such as Creativity, Curiosity, Appreciation, Hard work, Self-reliance, Honesty, Discipline and Compassion among teacher facilitators.

Thus the objectives of the Human Resource Development Centre (HRDC) in the light of above shall be focused towards enabling all the faculty members of HEIs including newly appointed Assistant Professors to:

- i. understand the significance of education in general, and higher education in particular, in the global and Indian contexts;
- ii. understand the linkages between education and economic and socio-economic and cultural development, with particular reference to the Indian polity where democracy, secularism and social equity are the basic tenets of society;
- iii. acquire and improve basic skills of teaching at the college/university level to achieve goals of higher education;
- iv. keep abreast of the latest developments in their specific subjects;
- v. understand the organization and management of a college/university and to perceive the role of teachers in the total system;
- vi. utilize opportunities for development of personality, initiative and creativity;
- vii. provide a comprehensive and structured look at the challenges and opportunities brought by the use of ICT and open content (OER and MOOC) in higher education and to overview the visions and expectations of key higher education stakeholders towards the future of learning at universities and higher education institutions.

3. PHILOSOPHY

The HRDC's main philosophy is to keep in mind that the teacher is central to the system. As the pace of change has accelerated, the future of higher education has become more unpredictable and discussions about how to maintain its relevance to country's dream intensified. The world is changing faster than ever and our skill sets have a shorter life; the world is getting more connected than ever before; in this connected world, mentorship takes on new importance and meaning; challenges we face are multi-faceted requiring systems thinking & socio-technical sensibilities; and while skills are important, so are mind sets and dispositions. The amount of published material on the topic also grows larger each year. As a consequence, all but the most conscientious observers, including most faculty, administrators and policy makers, are likely to have gaps in their understanding of the problems that need attention.

Under the given scenario, the role of the teacher has evolved over a period of time and in the present era of globalization, it is expected that teachers will assume the role of a change leader and a facilitator. Faculty development through HRDCs, PMMMNMTT centres and other faculty training programmes constitute an important strategy for achieving faculty excellence. The thrust of faculty development through these implementing units is to enable all faculty to acquire specific competencies that help improve their work performance, particularly teaching effectiveness, and become more effective at facilitating student learning; learn about new fields/frontiers of knowledge and apply new instructional delivery models, technologies and pedagogies to promote improved student learning outcomes and enhance teaching effectiveness and excellence in research and engaged scholarship. It is, therefore, necessary to develop inbuilt mechanisms to provide opportunities for teachers for lifelong learning and capacity building as an ongoing process of professional development within the framework of knowledge society so as to keep the in-service teachers mindful of their very existence of appreciating the facts in paradigm shift in teaching-learning experiences in view of outcome based learning and blended learning mode that:

- this job is about relationships
- what ultimately matters are not what is taught, but what is learnt
- what we teach and how we teach, and how we assess, ought to be aligned with the intended learning outcomes, such that they are fully integrated and consistent with each other

4. IMPLEMENTATION OF SCHEME

By the 2020's it is expected that the future higher education sector will go through considerable changes and look quite different in terms of the functions of higher education institutions, modes of teaching and learning, pedagogical approaches, student-teacher relationships and the role of teachers. It is the need of hour that the range of initiatives to address these problems and the likely consequences of adopting or failing to adopt one or another policy or initiative have to be explored by HRDCs. By exploring play, innovation, and the cultivation of the imagination as cornerstones of learning, a vision of learning has to be created for the future that is achievable, scalable and one that grows along with the technology that fosters it and the people who engage with it. This includes Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching (PMMMNTT) to address important issues pertaining to availability of qualified and competent teachers with systems to support their consistent knowledge up-gradation to match the global competence and other requirements of fast growing new knowledge in various disciplines and across disciplines.

The tertiary education sector has also seen a massive expansion over the past decades. Internationalization of teaching and research are critical objectives for most tertiary institutions. There are a number of motivations for this, including institutional profiling, raising quality standards and global relevance, attracting the best students and staff, generating revenue, and promoting internal diversity. It generates significant and multiple direct, indirect and catalytic economic impacts (e.g. human capital, research, innovation and trade promotion) which result in well-established benefits pertaining to both individuals and wider economies. Increased interconnectedness of the academic community and open access to data and research will foster greater research collaborations among academics globally. Funding schemes for collaborative research at all levels: institutional, national and supranational level will have to accommodate and support this trend. Applying research excellence in industry will require increased flexibility, entrepreneurship and presumably different governance structures amongst the academic community.

The two distinct educational roles of HEI are: 1. Delivering knowledge to their students and 2. Certifying the level of competencies acquired by them. The first role is much influenced by the emergence of new formal and informal training opportunities through ICT and will inevitably be modified because universities are no longer monopolists in providing access to high-quality information and knowledge relevant to the post-secondary education sphere. Another role - to verify that students have properly benefited from training and passed proper examinations by qualified personnel - most likely will remain the core function of the higher education institutions, even though the character of the certifications could experience changes in terms of scope, regularity, form of education delivery, which will be necessitated by the up-skilling and re-skilling needs dictated by the labour market.

Since the use of OER/MOOC and ICT has resulted in the shift in higher education from providing access to knowledge for providing access to learning, the role of teachers is transforming into the role of facilitators of knowledge, guides, mentors, e-tutors, and counselors. It is envisaged that the Open Educational Resources (OER) and Massive Open Online Courses (MOOC) will become an integral part of the teaching and learning processes within the next 15 years, the transfer and recognition, as well as microcredentialing of OER/MOOC-based results should become an important issue. For the first time in the year 1975-76, India witnessed various experiments including the famous experiment “Satellite Interactive Television Experiment” (SITE) in the field of education to replicate classroom teaching resulting in Countrywide Classroom (CWCR) with the help of a communication satellite experiment designed by Indian Space Research Organization and NASA. Taking advantage of the Indian experience from SITE that showed that India could make use of advanced technology to fulfil the socio-economic needs of the country University Grants Commission (UGC), launched “UGC Countrywide Classroom” on Doordarshan National Network in 1984 and an Inter-University Centre named as 'Consortium for Educational Communication' (CEC) was set up in 1993 to co-ordinate with EMRCs and to make CWCR mission most effective, appealing and successful. Besides, CEC has collaborated with INFLIBNET (Information and Library Network Centre), for developing the e-education portal which contains the ‘Bibliographic Database of CEC Video Resources’ available at CEC Media Library. This database of educational video programmes, e-Contents and SLOs produced by CEC and its Media Centres is hosted on the INFLIBNET’s server, which enables universities and colleges under the UGC-INFONET consortia to have access to the CEC database of video resources. CEC and its media centres are engaged in the production of two types of educational video programmes – (i) Curriculum based and (ii) Enrichment based (for supplementary learning). These programmes cover different subjects across four bands/streams: 1. Language/ Literature/Art and Culture, 2. Social Sciences, 3. Management and other professional subjects, 4. Sciences/ Technology and by now has a knowledge repository of approx. 37,048 educational video programmes. CEC-UGC DTH Channels on SWAYAM PRABHA Platform for Non technology UG and PG Programmes offer 31 UG and 72 PG MOOCs courses of MOOCs development under Phase 1. CEC is running both curriculum as well as enrichment-based programmes on various subjects to supplement the classroom teaching are aired by an exclusive 24X7 CEC-UGC higher education satellite channel-VYAS.

Other important issues are quality of resources and learning outcomes and assessment. Certification system needs to be revised and assessment procedures should be harmonized to support a wider use of open content for which the teachers in HEIs have to be equipped for their naturalization.

The learning to learn using the technologies is considered as one of the objectives of higher education and lifelong learning. Training of teachers in this field ensures that they would teach their students to learn after they graduate, being able to get new skills and master new technologies, when the technologies that are considered to be advanced today will become obsolete. The teachers would not only deliver or transfer knowledge, but would become “pedagogical engineers”, “digital resources designers” and “digital courses designers”. Teaching is expected to become a team activity: teachers and other university staff members might share roles and tasks in the future. Teaching teams will be inter-professional and may incorporate a number of discipline areas or activities that might be more challenge-based. Relationships between teachers and students are also expected to undergo some change: teachers will collaborate with students, in particular, in joint production of educational content.

Furthermore, there has been knowledge explosion in every discipline. A college/university teacher has to continuously update his/her knowledge in his/her chosen field of expertise, or run the risk of becoming totally outdated in a very short period of time. Operating as lifelong learning institutes, universities are expected to provide content facilitation and skill development using personalized blended learning approaches and to enable joint production of knowledge with engagement of students. There is an urgent need for retraining of teachers. Future teachers should be competent both in their disciplines and technologies. Continuous training should focus not only on the use of digital resources, but also on production of digital content. Teaching staff should be trained to understand technologies, the ways of producing digital content and the mechanisms of functioning of ICT devices. They should also be instructed to adopt the new pedagogies in relation to digital technologies. "Rethinking Education" is also necessitated due to powerful ubiquitous technology enabled feasibility to facilitate highly dynamic, adaptable and engaging virtual learning environments, personalized lifelong learning opportunities. Open content will become an integral part of the teaching and learning processes. These issues are closely related to the revision of the system of credentialing, including the transfer of credits and introduction of micro-degrees.

There is a need of tiered structure for dovetailing the efforts of in-service teacher training & development by recognizing and specifying the role of IUCTE, CEC, INFLIBNET and HRDCs synergistically. For example, on the top tier, IUCTE shall devise the pedagogical tools commensurate to the curriculum prescribed in the Guidelines and CEC shall help in production of OERs and MOOCs by appreciating the cognitive disabilities and evolutionary technological quality rubric whereas INFLIBNET shall provide the widely accepted distribution channel for audio-video and other e-resources to all the institutions besides their primary duties. At lower tier, the neighbouring HRDCs, EMRCs and NRCs shall collaborate with each other in the production and dissemination of e-resources in view of spatio-temporal recommendations in social media by involving the participants who are early adopters to enrich their learning experiences as "pedagogical engineers", "digital resources designers" and "digital courses designers".

To begin with, for hand-holding, HRDCs shall be offered one-week contact/hands on experience especially for the purpose of CAS who have completed annual refresher course (ARPIT) through online. For effective monitoring, MoUs shall be entered into involved parties by assigning their unambiguous accountability, the framework of which is provided in Annexure 13-14. The HRDCs should continue to be under the control of UGC for contact programmes of defined durations accessible to all the teachers of HEIs.

5. NATURE OF HRDCs UNDER “BLENDED AND INTENSIFIED MISSION MODE”

While the really motivated and industrious teachers use their own resources to keep themselves abreast of new knowledge and to train themselves in the latest processes, methodologies and techniques of teaching, it is necessary to provide systematic and organized orientation programmes for the large number of teachers at the college and university level. Despite progress in narrowing the access discrepancies, large gaps remain between completion rates. Our educational system is massive, well entrenched, and slow to change. We have well over 1.5 million higher education faculty who were educated in Pre-Digital age and who view education through a Post-Colonial model. There is no magical answer on how to reach the large number of teachers who are somewhat resistant to change yet Peer pressure, one-on-one in service, better incentives, administrative pressure, etc. have to be put in place. Focused and systematic drive will be through a “catch-up” campaign mode where the aim is to cover all in-service teachers, irrespective of their subject and seniority shall be requested to register and complete these refresher courses and UGC has recognised them in their latest regulations under “Minimum Qualifications For Appointment Of Teachers And Other Academic Staff In Universities And Colleges And Measures For The Maintenance Of Standards In Higher Education 2018”.

The Ministry of Human Resource Development has launched Annual Refresher Programme in Teaching (ARPIT), a major and unique initiative of online professional development using the MOOCs platform SWAYAM. For implementing ARPIT, 75 discipline-specific National Resource Centres (NRCs) have been identified in the first phase, which are tasked to prepare online training material with focus on latest developments in the discipline, new & emerging trends, pedagogical improvements and methodologies for transacting revised curriculum. Through ARPIT all in-service teachers, irrespective of their subject and seniority have been given an enabling opportunity to keep abreast of the latest developments in their disciplines through the technology based online refresher courses. The philosophy of ARPIT shall be Anybody, Anywhere, Anytime and the teachers shall be at liberty to do these courses and choose the subjects freely. The NRCs have initially developed 3 minute video(s) which have been assessed technically by AICTE and after having met the MOOC guidelines; the same have been approved and uploaded on SWAYAM Portal. The course is a 40 hour module with 20 hours of video content and 20 hours of non-video content. They are offered in a highly flexible format and can be done at one’s own pace and time. There are built-in assessment exercises and activities as part of the academic progression in the course. At the end of the course, they will be a terminal assessment which can be either online or a written examination. All faculties who have successfully completed the online refresher course will be certified.

Currently NRCs are offering 40 hours discipline specific module, which also has built in evaluation activities that calls for time investment by the faculty trainees. It also has an end course online proctored examination and certification. Normally for OER based courses one credit is calculated as 30 hours which includes content based time and offline learning. Accordingly the 40 hour online refresher course would have time weight age almost to the tune of 80 hours.

The following main target groups have been identified for capacity building, knowledge enhancement and similar other programmes with the objective of a holistic approach focused on transformation of our institutions of higher education to a more facilitating academic environment conducive to innovations, creativity and quality advanced learning and research:

- Faculty members in institutions of higher learning engaged in teaching and research
- Teacher Educators: the resource persons of HRDCs
- Key non-academic functionaries in institutions of higher learning for better governance and to facilitate efficient use of various fast growing ICT resources and applications
- Research scholars

Under the “Blended and Intensified Mission Mode”, the Human Resource Development Centre will be a UGC-sponsored separate entity on the similar lines of an inter-university institute catering to the needs of colleges and universities within state/neighboring states. As the geographical distribution of HRDCs is not an outcome of planned optimal outcome based on efficiency and equity, an HRDC already located in a university will have to draw upon all the possible existing resources available in the university as well as in other universities and learning institutions within the state and outside to become a spatial knowledge resource equity. To this effect, all universities having HRDCs will have to sign a revised agreement with UGC ensuring the implementation of Guidelines in its letter and spirit for subjecting academic audit and periodic review pivotal to continuance of the respective HRDC. Functional autonomy will be granted to Human Resource Development Centre by the university. The UGC will monitor and review the functioning of the UGC-HRDC after a period of three/five years or as communicated by the UGC from time to time. The UGC may, after review, discontinue any HRDC, if necessary. The UGC shall constitute a Standing Committee to monitor, advice in policy making and recommend the courses to be offered in all the HRDCs. Such Standing Committee should have six members from academics and one officer of UGC who shall be the bureau head of the HRDC. The six members' constituting the Standing Committee shall be:

1. Chairman of the Committee (may be Commission member or a Senior Academician at the rank of VC/Director)
2. Three Senior Academicians (At the level of VC/Dean/Former VCs).
3. Two Directors of HRDCs.

HRDCs are geared up to take up the challenges of induction program for newly appointed teachers and the duration of OPs/RCs is being reduced to one week online program with focus on "Rethinking Education" that is necessitated due to powerful ubiquitous technology enabled feasibility to facilitate highly dynamic, adaptable and engaging virtual learning environments, personalized lifelong learning opportunities by making it compulsory for the participants. In this way all the OPs and RCs shall be conducted in blended mode. "One Week training programs at all levels of Faculty" on various inter disciplinary topics and need based topics has been incorporated. OERs/ MOOCs and Outcome based Education in all our Orientation and Refresher courses have been included. The following requisites are included in the statement of philosophy, to achieve the target under "Intensified Mission Mode" for which, the faculty structure is revised and effective management of HRDCs through the UGC-Standing Committee by active involvement of decision makers and leaders in Higher Education, to make the HRDCs more effective:

- A board and administration that builds teacher participation into decision-making processes
- Challenge in a supportive environment
- Fair but firm discipline
- Individualized programs, individual pacing in particular
- Observation of rights coupled with insistence on responsibilities
- HEIs that are comfortable and well-equipped
- Support and participation by the community, the home in particular, in educating each student
- Teachers that, among other things, demonstrate:
  - Appropriate communication skills with groups and individuals
  - Expertise in their content areas
  - Liking for people, pupils in particular
  - Support for decisions of the UGC-HRDC

Courses under UGC-HRDC are conducted round the year and shall be non-vocational. The core academic staffs will perform the various functions outlined above synergistically with CEC-EMRCs and Centers established under PMMMNMTT which may be executed under mutual agreement as per Tripartite MoU (Annexure 14).

5.1 Structure of HRDCs (Staffing pattern)

The existing HRDCs shall conserve its structure for which the academic and non-academic staff engaged prior to the implementation of these guidelines will continue to be governed by the UGC guidelines which prevailed at the time of their appointment. All the staff and faculty recruited prior to 2015 will continue with the same terms and conditions prevailed at the time of their appointment.

The HRDCs are provided with the following teaching faculty: -

(a) Academic Staff

1. Professor-Director-1: The Professor – Director will be appointed on regular basis. The qualifications for the post of Director will be the same as for the post of Professor. The Professor-Director will be appointed by the Chairman, UGC out of a panel of names (in alphabetical order) recommended by the Selection Committee constituted for the purpose by the Chairman, UGC. One of the members of the Selection Committee would be the Vice-Chancellor of the concerned University. Wherever, the regular Directors are appointed, they will be continued as Professor-Director, HRDC by following UGC Regulations, 2018.

The Director of HRDC shall be the Chief Executive Officer of HRDC in terms of academic, Administrative and Financial matters. He shall be member of scrutiny and selection committee for recruitment of Non-Teaching Staff.

In case, if there is a delay in appointment of Assistant Professor, the University may hire faculty on contract basis by following UGC norms.

In future, these positions should be filled by Direct Recruitment as prescribed for Assistant Professors by UGC Regulations except the Director, HRDC of host University shall also be a member of Selection Committee.

The existing faculty at the level of Assistant Professor and Associate Professor, the CAS promotion norms amended to the extent in UGC Regulations 2018, Appendix-II, Table 1 & 2 shall be applicable.

If Associate Professor is already appointed in any HRDC, the post shall continue to be co-terminus with the superannuation of incumbent. If the post of Associate Professor or both the posts - Associate Professor and Assistant Professor are vacant then only Assistant Professors' post will be filled by direct recruitment.

Services rendered by the core staff in HRDCs may be counted for promotion both in the HRDC or in their parent departments including CAS at the level of Assistant Professor (Level-1, Level-2 and to Associate Professor). The existing Associate Professors/Assistant Professors who are fulfilling the criteria of UGC Regulations 2018 should also be extended CAS to the Level of Professors. Such Professors will continue to be the faculty of HRDC and may be considered eligible to apply for the post of Director under direct/open recruitment. They shall have to apply and compete for the post of Director under direct recruitment.

Wherever vacancy exists the recruitment shall be done as per the prescribed guidelines after the MoU (Annexure 13) is signed.

Specifically, an HRDC will:

- a. Formulate a programme of orientation along the broad guidelines given above.
- b. Identify resource persons in various fields of specialization for running the orientation course and refresher courses, and familiarize such resource persons with the philosophy and guidelines for the courses. Based on the defined procedure for the creation of a database for identification of experts in different fields, the names of experts based on specialized academic knowledge shall be compiled for their inclusion in the databank/database for Orientation Programs/ Refresher Courses. To ensure that majority of resource persons are drawn from the approved list by the chairman of the advisory committee of HRDC.

- m. The thrust areas for each refresher course will be decided by the director in consultation with the course coordinator.
- n. Co-ordinated Research with IUCTE in the area of teaching pedagogy and faculty development

6. CURRICULUM

As prescribed by UGC from time to time.

Course Preparation

The department actually conducting refresher courses and responsible for evolving the course curriculum in consultation with the director and HRDC coordinator may contribute in preparing high-quality course content after discussion and consultation with CECs/ Centers under the aegis of PMMMNTT, outside experts, and high-graded scientists and academics. Such experts may suggest steps to prepare a full course with up to date knowledge and material content contributing to the development in the subject. The course should be so prepared that the content has essential percentage of the core material in the subject along with required percentage of areas of emergence and priority, essential laboratory and practical components, and computer application with relevant advancement of the subject.

Course contents of the orientation programme in IT will be circulated separately.

Components of the Orientation Course

In order to achieve the above objectives, the curriculum for the orientation course may have the following four components with minimum of 144 contact hours, that is, six hours daily for a four-week programme:

COMPONENT A: Awareness of linkages between society, environment, development and education

COMPONENT B: Philosophy of education, Indian education system and pedagogy

COMPONENT C: Resource awareness and knowledge generation.

Every HRDC should organize at least one three-week interdisciplinary RC in IT awareness. About one-third contact hours may be devoted to IT-orientation in other Refresher Courses / orientation programmes.

Every interdisciplinary Refresher Course will be equivalent to the Refresher Course in the subject / discipline of the participant.

7. ELIGIBILITY, TARGET GROUP AND DURATION

Faculty members working in universities and colleges that are included under Section 2(f) of the UGC Act, even though they may not yet be fit under Section 12 (B), may be invited to participate in the orientation and refresher courses. The teachers of colleges that do not yet come within the purview of Section 2(f), but have been affiliated to a university for at least five years, will be permitted to participate in the courses.

7.1. Scope of the Human Resource Development Centre

The Human Resource Development Centre will cater to the needs of teachers of the colleges/universities as decided by the UGC from time to time by offering Induction/Orientation programmes/ Refresher courses. One week contact programme/short term programme on various themes like Academic Leadership, Climate Change, Entrepreneurship, Research Methodology and Gender Studies, etc. Also training programme should be conducted for non-teaching staff on various administrative procedures including ICT in Governance, financial management and inter personnel relations

7.1.1. Full-Time Courses

- i) An orientation course will necessarily be full time and residential. Adequate arrangements will have to be made by the HRDC to ensure that the residential character of the course is maintained throughout.
- ii) Participating lecturers will be deputed by the respective college/university department for the entire duration of the course.
- iii) The teachers selected for the programme are to be treated as on duty with full pay and allowances by the sponsoring university/college.
- iv) Participants may be drawn from the institutions on all-India basis to promote national integration. In case sufficient number is not available within the State the HRDC may take participants from other States. The maximum number of participants should be 40 only.
- v) The number of participants in a course should be 20-40. In case sufficient number of participants is not available in a particular subject/ course, the HRDC may consult with a nearby HRDC that has been allotted the same subject by the UGC in order to exchange participants among themselves, so as to ensure optimum number of participants in a course.

- vi) All courses will be organized through UGC-HRDCs. No refresher course will be separately allotted to a university department/college where an HRDC exists.
- vii) While organizing refresher courses, care should be taken to ensure that these are done by the parent department and that in the organization of these courses the faculty of the concerned department is fully involved.
- viii) Punctuality, regularity, participation and purposefulness should be emphasized.
- ix) Successful candidates in only UGC approved programmes will be issued certificates as per UGC format. The UGC-HRDC/RCC may even disallow the issue of certificate to participants on valid reasons.
- x) The UGC has decided not to grant equivalence to the courses/ programmes other than those UGC-sponsored refresher courses/orientation programmes conducted by the UGC-HRDCs and erstwhile UGC-RCCB for the purpose of career advancement. However, the courses conducted by PMMMNMTT centres shall be recognized as indicated in the UGC regulations 2018.
- xi) The ONLINE Refresher Courses/Orientation Programmes /Induction Programmes as a means of Flipped Class rooms as approved by UGC and delivered through OER/MOOC platform by respective HRDCs shall be treated equivalent to conventional mode for issuance of certificates.

7.1.2. Induction Programme for Newly Appointed Assistant Professors

It is mandatory for every newly appointed teacher to attend induction programme within one year of his/her appointment prior to his or her regularization/confirmation. The main purpose of induction programme is to make a teacher aware about the administrative set-up, sensitize him/her to classroom realities and understand the bond between different stakeholders for realizing the professional aspirations and developing as agents of socio- economic change and national development. UGC has prepared a module for induction programme which will be implemented by HRDCs through Regional offices. such HRDCs which are already PMMMNMTT centers may synergize the modules of induction programme of UGC. The induction programme is fully residential programme of one month duration. In case HRDCs can cover within 25-28 working days, the same is permissible.

7.1.3 Blended Orientation Programme

Under the programme, it is intended to inculcate in young lecturers the quality of self-reliance through their awareness of the social, intellectual and moral environment.

The programme should enable the teachers to discover themselves and their potential through a positive appreciation of their role in the total social, intellectual and moral universe within which they function and of which they are important members. In a country where teachers are able to fulfill their responsibility with awareness and confidence, the educational system becomes relevant and dynamic.

7.1.3.1 Orientation Relevant to Indian Conditions

The orientation programme must engender in the teacher awareness of the problems that Indian society faces, and that education is the solution of these problems.

It must also focus on the achievement of the goals set out in the Indian Constitution. Matters relating to subject knowledge and pedagogy, although important in themselves, would only be meaningful when understood in the total context of national development.

7.1.3.2 Active Involvement of Decision-makers and Leaders in Higher Education

It is equally important to recognize that no scheme for orientation of teachers can succeed if the decision-makers and administrators of higher education do not understand the importance of such courses.

Therefore, along with courses for newly appointed teachers, orientation programmes for heads of department, principals, deans, officers, etc. must be organized with a view to acquaint top-level administrators with what teachers are learning in the orientation courses. This exposure will enable decision-makers to actively participate in the scheme; at the same time, these administrators would be able to modify their own roles as supervisors of higher education by demanding newer role behaviour from teachers.

7.1.3.3 For Orientation programmes, newly appointed lecturers up to six years of continuous service and all those teachers who require orientation for getting a higher grade will be allowed. Attendance should be a condition for confirmation and the same course will be counted for promotion to a senior scale as prescribed by UGC from time-to-time.

7.1.4 For the Refresher course, participation in the orientation programme is a prerequisite for admission. The teacher may opt for a refresher course after a one-year gap following an orientation course. Also, there should be a minimum gap of one year between two refresher courses, though it may be relaxed if an adequate number of participants is not available or it is essential for the teacher to fulfil eligibility conditions for career advancement as prescribed by UGC from time-to-time.

The orientation programme will be of Three weeks duration, with minimum of 18 working days and 108 contact hours (six hours a day, six days a week). The refresher course will be of Two weeks duration, with minimum of 12 working days and 72 contact hours (six hours a day , six days a week),excluding Sundays. The number working of working days shall not be compromised while conducting these programs.

Part-time / Ad-hoc/ temporary / contract teachers who have been teaching for at least three academic sessions in an institution without differentiating them on the basis of type of management, which has been affiliated to a University programme / Refresher Course to enhance their skills.

Universities and colleges will allow interested teachers who attend UGC-HRDC programmes based on their eligibility. Otherwise, valid reasons will have to be intimated to the teachers concerned, as the course organized for their teachers will ultimately benefit the University and colleges. Temporary arrangements in place of teachers deputed for such courses may be made by internal adjustment if required. However, it may not be possible for the commission to provide any additional grant to pay either honorarium or salary of the substitute, if appointed.

7.1.5. Principal's Meeting/Workshop for Academic Administrators

Each HRDC may organize one or two meetings of principal/heads/deans/officers in a year to:

- a. familiarize them with the philosophy and importance of orientation programmes and refresher courses, and persuade them to depute teachers;
- b. enable them to understand their new roles as supervisors; and facilitate reforms in higher education through appropriate modification of management systems at various levels.

7.1.6. Interaction Programme

Students at Ph.D./post-doctoral levels from the Centre of Advanced Studies/Department of Special Assistance centres may take part in the special interaction programmes to be organised by the UGC-HRDC/RCC under the RCs scheme. The interaction programmes should be in the form of workshop/seminars only. The duration of this programme should be about three to four weeks. The main focus of this programme will be interaction between Ph.D./post-doctoral scholars and teachers. The number of participants for this programme shall be 20-40. This interaction programme may be held once a year.

Expenditure on this interaction programme may be claimed separately and the student participants shall not be treated at par with the participants in refresher courses in respect of payment of TA/DA. However, hospitality like stay boarding be extended and no reimbursement should be made to the student participants.

7.2. Exchange of Ideas in Academic and Educational Environment

The Human Resource Development with a good number of teachers and resource persons are required to create a good academic and educational environment in the university. This will also help the UGC-HRDC to have a place of exchanging ideas and topics of interest in the subject area. Lectures from participating teachers may be arranged for mutual benefit. The UGC-HRDC may also request the relevant university department to organize lectures by eminent resource persons for the benefit of other students and researchers. This may create a decent amount of academic interest in the university where the UGC-HRDC is situated. The director/coordinator of the UGC-RC should prepare a plan well in advance, including proposing the names of eminent persons to be invited as resource persons, for the concerned department/school for suitable measures.

7.3. Permission to Attend Refresher Courses during the Period of the Teacher's Fellowship

Teachers' fellowships as well as refresher courses/orientation courses are meant for professional development. A teacher interested in attending refresher courses (as prescribed by UGC from time to time) during the period of fellowship should not be denied the opportunity as it supplements his/her professional development. Therefore, the UGC has decided to permit the teacher fellow to attend a refresher course provided:

- i. He/she surrenders living expenses for the period he/she is attending the refresher course, and agrees to submit to the HRDC an undertaking to this effect through the concerned research centre before joining the course.
- ii. The refresher course is attended in the subject that is relevant to his/her research.
- iii. No extension in the teacher fellowship is sought on these grounds.

7.4. Evaluation of Participants

In the concluding week of the programme, Experts, preferably external, may be asked to assess the participants on the basis of multiple-choice objective tests, and give grades to participants, taking also into account other evaluations already done. The grading should be as follows:

- (i) A+: 85 percent and above
- (ii) A: 70 per cent to less than or equal to 84 percent
- (iii) B: 60 per cent to less than or equal to 69 per cent
- (iv) C: 50 per cent to less than or equal to 59 per cent
- (v) F: Below 49 per cent

Those teacher participants who get F grades are required to repeat the programme after a gap of one year without financial commitment to UGC-HRDC.

The total marks are to be fixed at 100 and the same may be decided in the following manner:

- (i) Overall response - 20
- (ii) Seminars (in diverse topics mentioned in component A) - 20
- (iii) Project/survey/others (topics like climate change, environment and social connect etc.) - 20
- (iv) ICT based teaching/ MOODLE/ Micro-teaching/participation - 20
- (v) Multiple-choice objective tests -20

The above distribution may be adjusted to meet specific requirements. The grades should be indicated on the certificate to be given to the teacher participant at the end of the programme.

In both Orientation and Refresher Courses, in all OPs/RCs & induction programmes participants should attend all sessions on all working days. No leave is permissible except for emergency or exceptional case/circumstances where a maximum of 3-day leave may be granted by Director of the HRDC. Participants who availed such leave will have to compensate the same number of days in the next programme and such participants may be given certificate after completion of the course as prescribed in Annexure 9 and 10.

7.5 Training of Trainers

A training of trainers will be undertaken by UGC in conjunction with PMMMNMTT so that a holistic approach to capacity building suited to changing future needs is adopted. This will be a regular feature. So also Retreat for Directors of HRDCs as part of sensitizing them to new models of teacher training will be an annual feature.

Synergizing teacher training efforts with various components of PMMMNMTT Central sector scheme of MHRD is essential and important to achieve common goals without having disparate approaches to faculty training.

8. PROCEDURE FOR MONITORING THE PROGRESS OF THE SCHEME

All HRDCs will submit their yearly calendar of programmes in advance. They will also submit half yearly progress reports indicating outcomes achieved. Impact analysis of training programmes through student feedback mechanism will be put in place to assess the effectiveness of the faculty post-training in his/her own teaching institution. This will ensure academic rigour and also identify course corrections for further improvement.

Monitoring, evaluation and quality assurance of HRDC programmes will be done time to time by “Standing Committee” appointed by the UGC based on the inputs provided as per Annexure 11,12 and MoU signed on the prescribed format (Annexure 13).
